

WORD OF THE DAY | Week 218

Word Expression	Korean	Usage	Notes
Bystander	구경꾼 (행인), 방관자	The violent protest injured many innocent bystanders / We were all bystanders when our company went bankrupt	A person or people who is / are present at an event or incident but does not take part.
Travel Chaos	교통대란	There's going to be a lot of travel chaos during the thanksgiving holiday / The car accident caused a lot of travel chaos	Very bad traffic jams
Grimy	때 묻은, 더러운	Our kitchen sink was very grimy when we came back from holiday The restaurant's kitchens were very grimy .	Very dirty
Shortcoming	결점, 단점	My shortcomings are often exposed whenever I meet with my boss / I have to overcome my shortcomings in order to succeed	weaknesses
Gut feeling	직감, 육감	I have a gut feeling things are going to go wrong / I had a gut feeling that was not going to happen	A feeling about something / intuition
Cobble together	대충 꿰맞추다, 그럭저럭 맞추다	I cobbled together a sales report for my boss yesterday Have a look at this design cobbled together	casually put together
Baffle	도저히 이해할 수 없는, 이해하기 힘든	Our company's new policy is baffling . Nobody understands how it is going to work Advanced mathematics baffles me	Difficult to understand

Week 78 Link >

- Gold digger
- Photobomb
- Suited and booted
- Catastrophic
- On shaking ground
- Blurb
- Hands on experience

Week 147 Link >

- Delusional
- Quashed
- Down in the dumps
- Inner circle
- Drawback
- Scaremongering
- Silver fox

www.fandcorp.com